

Hello Chapter Members

A new feature was added to the chapter web site today. This feature will automatically send you an email message when a journal article is published to the web site. It will give you a link in the email to the new content. This document is an example.

If you have any questions or concerns, please let me or your chapter director know.

Jim Rivord